"LITTLE HSU" INTERVIEWED. FINISHED WITH CHINESE POLITICS.

GOING STRAIGHT TO ENGLAND.

"I am through with Chinese politics for good," said Gen. Hsu Shu-cheng, (Little Hsu) when interviewed by a Telegraph representative in his cabin aboard the Blue Funnel liner, s.s. Dardanus this morning. "I am going to London. From there I do not know where I shall go. I do not know from day to day what I am going to do."

Asked if he was in communication with Dr. Sun Yat-sen and as to what his opinions were regarding the Canton situation, "Little Hsu" merely shrugged his shoulders and replied that he had not heard from Dr. Sun since before the Canton trouble on the fifteenth of month. He denied having any intention of going to Canton instead of to London saying, "My ticket reads to London and I am going all the way aboard this very ship."

"Little Hsu's" bubble of power in Shanghai burst a few weeks ago when his forces were put to rout by Wu Pei-fu's army. He was at that time in command of the entire Chekiang army in the vicinity of Shanghai. Following his defeat he fled to the French Concession where he was virtually made a prisoner by the Powers, guards being placed on his home. "Little Hsu" has not left the boat since his arrival in Hongkong. To ensure his safety, detectives have been placed on guard outside his cabin, though visitors are apparently welcomed by the General.

The Telegraph representative found "Little Hsu" only after a difficult search. So quiet had been his entrance into the Colony that scarcely anyone knew of his whereabouts. Officials of the Government were non-committal regarding his arrival or his intentions.

Representatives of the steamship company carrying him as passenger refused to give out any information as to whether or not he was a passenger aboard their ship.

Once aboard the ship more difficulties arose before the interview was finally arranged. Officers of the ship had been instructed by the officials to divulge no information and obeyed their orders implicitly. It was not until the representative saw the detective outside the cabin occupied by "Little Hsu" and recognised him that he was able to locate the General. A knock on the door brought immediate response and the Telegraph man was admitted.

During the course of the interview, "Little Hsu" was questioned as to what he intended to do with his home in China.

"Oh, but I have not got anything left," he replied. "Everything that I had has been confiscated by the Peking Government. I have only my ticket and necessary travelling funds."

"Little Hsu" spoke in very broken English, accentuating his sentences with gestures. He was dressed in the conventional attire of the Chinese merchant, sans mandarin coat. His hair was cropped short and worry seems to have creased the wrinkles in his face much deeper.

INDIAN CHARGED.

LOCAL DOCTOR'S NAME FORGED.

GOODS BY FALSE PRETENCES.

Using the name of a well-known surgeon, two Indians, who were tried by Mr. R. E. Lindell at the Central Magistracy to-day on charges of obtaining goods by means of a forged order, and of larceny, were alleged to have successfully obtained a rain-coat from Messrs. Yee Sang Fat's shop. A more careful assistant at another store where a second attempt was made, had his suspicions aroused and communicated with the surgeon, with the result that exposure followed.

Musta Khan, one of the men charged, was alleged to have gone into the Yee Sang Fat shop and presented a forged order, purporting to emanate from Dr. C. W. McKenny, of the Government Civil Hospital, for a rain-coat. The shop-assistant was led to believe that Musta Khan was a chauffeur employed by the doctor.

The other man, Mohamed Sheriff, was charged with uttering a forged order on the Sincere Company. He was stated to have brought an order on the Sincere Company in which Dr. McKenny was made to ask that a wrist watch and a raincoat be provided for Sheriff who was his chauffeur. Dr. McKenny's name was not on the firm's books, and the cheat was held back for investigation, whilst a letter asking for confirmation of the order was written to the doctor and entrusted to the defendant. He returned to the store early the following morning, asking for the order to be returned. He told the shop people that Dr. McKenny was "very angry" his order had not been acted upon immediately.

A communication with Dr. McKenny over the telephone confirmed the suspicions of the shop people.

Mohamed Sheriff was last night found by the Police hiding on board the s.s. Kwangtung, and he was taken into custody. A gold watch was found in his possession in regard to which he failed to give a satisfactory explanation.

Musta Khan was also arrested, and in subsequent investigations he was identified as the same person who stole a silver watch from a motor driver at the Fire Station. He had pawned the raincoat stolen from Yee Sang Fat and had realised a sum of $10 on it.

Dr. McKenny appeared in the Court this morning to state that none of the defendants were employed by him and that he did not make the orders in question. Both men were sentenced to three months' hard labour.

KONGMOON NEWS.

AN UNEASY ATMOSPHERE.

Writing under yesterday's date our Kongmoon correspondent says:

When the news regarding the fire and looting at Canton was first heard here, everyone was astounded. But when that news was confirmed, notifications were issued both by the Magistrate and the military advising the merchants to re-open their shops. The authorities easily had things their own way, for all the shops were immediately re-opened in response to the request. The Government has alienated itself from the affections of even those few law-abiding merchants who entertained, until recently, the most friendly disposition towards the present Government.

As to the Merchant Volunteers themselves, they are thinking more of how to save themselves from their own fate than to defy the Government. In fact, most of them are willing to pay the fine of $100 if things go no further than that. In a notification issued by General Leung Hung-kai, the Merchant Volunteers are asked to wait for re-organization which, however, may mean anything from fine and disarmament to something far worse. The attitude of the military here is still somewhat obscure, and is becoming disconcerting to the Volunteers. Many of the Volunteer leaders, who are also wealthy merchants, have fled to Hongkong pending a final settlement.

The soldiers here have been busy commanding vessels at Kowloon and Pakkai during the past two days, which has resulted in a sudden interruption of communication between Kongmoon and the village ports. Large numbers of troops were seen arriving at Pakkai by train last night, and this has caused some uneasiness among the people.

The ferry-boat which plied between Sha-ping, principal port of the Hokenan district, and Kowloon, to transfer passengers from the Hongkong steamers to the latter place, is reported to have been pirated yesterday, and a large number of passengers carried off for ransom.

BOXING SENSATION.

KNUTE HANSEN ATTACKS REFEREE.

Matty Smith Knocked Out.

(Our Own Correspondent).

Shanghai, Oct. 24.—Rufe Cannon knocked out Matty Smith in the fifth round of his scheduled twelve-round bout, following an exciting scene in the fourth round, when the referee, Mr. G. R. McCoy, halted the unmerciful beating Smith was receiving by raising Cannon's glove, according him the victory, while Smith was still upright.

Smith's second, Knute Hansen, the prominent heavyweight, dashed across the ring, throttling the referee and protesting. Instantly the whole packed audience was in an uproar.

The judges, Messrs. E. H. Himrod and H. D. Rodger assented that a decision should be reached, and ordered a continuance of the fight. Cannon thereupon made short work of his opponent, whose defences were utterly broken in the fifth round, knocking Smith down repeatedly until Hansen threw in the sponge.

Smith failed lamentably to justify the expectations based on his brilliant record, justifying the criticism that he entered the fight untrained and out of condition.

APPEAL COURT.

EVIDENCE OF MR. H. ODELL CHALLENGED.

That the story told by Mr. H. Odell at the hearing was entirely different to the one he told Inspector Grant at the time of the accident, was one of the reasons put forward by Mr. H. S. Fitzroy in the Supreme Court this morning, when on behalf of the Connaught Garage Company, he sought leave to appeal against the decision of Mr. Justice Dyer Ball in favour of Mr. Odell.

The application was made before the Full Court (Sir Henry Gollan, Chief Justice and Mr. H. J. Gompertz, Puisne Judges).

Mr. Fitzroy laid stress on the fact that at the time of the accident, Mr. Odell said that he was following the defendant's car which suddenly stopped without warning, causing him to run into the bank. The driver of the defendant company's car at the time of the accident said that he drove to the wide part of the road (the road is 40 feet wide where the accident occurred) in order to turn round. He saw the car some distance behind and waited for him to pass and felt a jolt.

Mr. Fitzroy pointed out that the stories told at the time were almost identical.

Mr. Fitzroy went on to deal with facts of the case. Mr. Odell had said that he slowed down to ten miles per hour, but as their Lordships knew, when two cars came into collision the impact depended on the united velocity. The leading car was stopped and yet when Mr. Odell's car hit the bank the wheel was badly damaged and the axle was bent. "Axles don't bend these days," observed Mr. Fitzroy, "unless there is a heavy smash."

Their Lordships decided to reserve their decision.

BISHOP OF HONGKONG.

The engagement is announced between the Right Rev. C. R. Luppuy, D.D., Bishop of Victoria, Hongkong, son of the late Rev. C. Duppuy and of Mrs. Duppuy, of 20, St. Mary's Avenue, Harrogate, and May Kathleen, daughter of Mr. H. Baker-Munton, of Broomhill, Purley, Surrey, and of the late Mrs. Baker-Munton.

The marriage will take place quietly in November.

EMPIRE COTTON.

GREATLY INCREASED PRODUCTION.

London, Oct. 23. Lord Derby, presiding over a meeting of the Empire Cotton-Growing Corporation, said that the development of cotton in the Empire during the past twelve months had exceeded all expectations.

Mr. Jackson, seconding the report, gave figures showing that the Empire production had increased on an average from sixty-four thousand bales in 1917 and 1918 to 134,000 in 1921-22, and 200,000 in 1923-24.—Reuter.

BOLSHEVISM IN ENGLISH POLITICS.

ROWDYISM AT ELECTION MEETINGS DENOUNCED.

LABOUR PARTY DENIES RESPONSIBILITY.

London, October 23.

The rowdyism at election meetings in various parts of the country is given prominence in the Press. Official Unionist headquarters have denounced the breaking up of Unionist and Liberal meetings as the introduction of Bolshevism into English politics. The Liberal headquarters assert that the rowdies are not electors, and the disturbances seem to have been organised. Labour headquarters emphatically deny the allegations that they are in any way connected with these disturbances. An official of the Labour party declared that their opponents, if they persisted in their misrepresentation, could not be surprised if their audiences showed the limit of human endurance had been reached, but the Labour party desired that every facility for clean, open discussion should be maintained.—Reuter.

London, October 23.

Mr. Baldwin in a speech at Gravesend said the Unionist party would not go back on its pledge regarding Colonial preference, nor propose any taxation on food.—Reuter.

CONSERVATIVES' TARIFF POLICY.

London, October 23.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin's statement on tariffs is in the nature of a reply to the Liberals, who are developing an anti-protectionist campaign. Mr. Baldwin declared that he would not depart from the pledges given to the Dominion representatives last year regarding Imperial Preference, but such a policy would not involve the taxation of food.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, at Walsall, declared that while the Conservatives did not intend to introduce a general tariff they were free to protect any particular industry which was undermined by the introduction of a new Safeguarding of Industries Bill.—Reuter.

REVOLT AT PEKING.

"CHRISTIAN GENERAL" SEIZES CITY.

PROCLAIMS INTENTION TO END WAR.

New York, October 23.

A message from Tientsin states that reliably informed persons declare that the Eleventh Division of the Chinese National Army, under the "Christian General" Feng Yu-hsiang, revolted at Peking this morning and seized the city gates, cut the telegraph and telephone lines, and stopped the train service.

A Shanghai message says that an American naval wireless from Peking confirms the cutting off of communications, for an unknown reason, and adds that the city is under the control of Feng Yu-hsiang. It remains peaceful and there is no cause for alarm. It is regarded as significant that Feng Yu-hsiang has returned from the front, for his two divisions of Ironsides are considered the best in China. It is rumoured, however, that for some time past his relations with Marshal Wu Pei-fu have been strained.—Reuter.

BRITISH MESSAGE.

The local Naval authorities notify us that the Commodore is informed that General Feng Yu-hsiang has deserted Wu Pei-fu, and yesterday morning, 23rd October, seized Peking with his Division. Gen. Feng has issued a proclamation that he intends to put an end to the war, and it may also be his intention to replace the President by Tuan Chi-yuan (Tuan Chi-jui). The Presidential Palace is surrounded by troops. Order has been maintained in the city. The only means of communication with Peking is by wireless telegraphy.

THE PROCLAMATION.

Peking, October 23. Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang completely controls the capital. He has issued a proclamation denouncing the war which is ruining China. Gen. Feng has called a conference of Government officials, and others with a view to ending hostilities. The proclamation appeals to the people to preserve order and protect foreigners. Meanwhile, Gen. Feng's troops are garrisoning Peking.—Reuter.

DEATH OF MRS. BABBAGE.

CAFÉ MANAGERESS PASSES AWAY.

It is with very sincere regret that we have to record the death of Mrs. N. Babbage, the well-known Manageress of the Alexandra Café, which took place at the French Hospital, Causeway Bay, last evening at six o'clock. The deceased lady, who had not been in good health for some months past, went into hospital just a fortnight ago and during the past few days it became known that she was seriously ill. Death was due to cancer.

The late Mrs. Babbage had been connected with the Alexandra Café for about 12 years, and took over the management of the business eight years ago on the death of the former proprietor, Mr. R. Howard. Mrs. Babbage's husband, Sergeant-Major Babbage of the R.G.A., went Home a few years ago. Not having had a holiday for many years, Mrs. Babbage intended going Home four months ago and was due to sail by the "Empress of Australia" when she had to go to hospital, and had been too unwell to travel since.

A very wide circle of friends and acquaintances will learn of her death with sincere regret, for she was a very popular lady. The funeral will take place this evening, passing the Monument at 5.30 p.m. As a mark of respect the flag of the Café has been flown at half-mast to-day, whilst the café will close during the hour of the funeral.

ANOTHER LADY ROBBED.

YESTERDAY'S DAYLIGHT AFFAIR.

Yet another case of daylight robbery from a European lady has been reported to the police.

Miss D. King, who lives at Friston Cottage Bowen Road, has reported that she was robbed of a handbag whilst on a walk on the hillside yesterday afternoon. In order to get into Kennedy Road from Macdonnell Road, Miss King crossed into a somewhat secluded pathway. Apparently she had been followed, for as she was about half-way down the path, she felt a tug at a handbag she was carrying in her hand. She turned round in time to see a young Chinese running away with the bag.

In her report to the Police, Miss King subsequently mentioned that the bag contained articles to the value of $15.

"SCOUNDREL" DISCHARGED.

FORTUNATE FORTUNE TELLER.

The fortune-teller charged with fraudulently converting a pair of gold bangles to his own use, again appeared before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning when Mr. J. M. Remedios d'Almada defended.

In his statement, taken yesterday, the defendant said that of the $18 he received for the bangles, five were given to him by the other fortune-teller, $11 had been paid for furniture hire, and the balance put into a draw for their common use.

A furniture dealer bore out defendant's statement regarding the furniture.

Mr. Hamilton said that he had no doubt the girl gave the other fortune-teller the bangles willingly, but defendant had been an absolute scoundrel towards the girl. However, defendant could not be convicted for being a scoundrel and would therefore be discharged.

MECCA DISPUTE.

HOW THE TROUBLE AROSE.

Jerusalem, Oct. 23.

Ibn Saud, the Sultan of Nejd, has telegraphed to the Moslem Supreme Council, who offered to mediate between Ibn Saud and the Hedjaz, saying their mediation has arrived too late, and declaring that during the last seven years Ibn Saud had done his utmost to conciliate Ex-King Hussein, to attain peace and concord, but vainly. Ex-King Hussein's attitude became haughtier and more obstinate and his proclamation proved that he was aiming at the disruption of Ibn Saud's territory. Ex-King Hussein for six years prevented the Wahabites from making the pilgrimage to Mecca and was unable to maintain the security of Mecca and Medina or guarantee the safety of Moslem pilgrims.

The Wahabites' sole purpose was to tranquillise the situation in the Hedjaz and ensure the future of their country. They desired an administration in the Hedjaz which would guarantee the rights of all Moslems and provide comfort for pilgrims, as well as remove all injustices and grievances.—Reuter.

THE CONSPIRACY CASE.

CHARGES AGAINST SOLICITORS' CLERKS.

Continuing his evidence at the Central Magistrate's yesterday afternoon in the trial of the two solicitors' clerks, (Lau Shu-tan and Charles Kent) on charges of conspiracy and fraud, Ho Sai-lok further alleged that unwittingly, he was made party to a third attempt to induce his mother Mrs.
Wong Tak-yin, to sign away her property by making her believe that the agreement was for the purchase of property on behalf of her favorite nephew, Mr. Ho Sui-sam.

Continuing his evidence, Ho Sai-lok said he went with his mother to Messrs. Hastings and Hastings' office where they saw the first defendant, Lo, who took them straightway to Mr. Webster's room. The document produced, (an agreement) was signed by his mother, who then left.

The same evening, witness went to a boarding house by appointment and was paid $1,000 by Lo.

One day witness received a telephone message from Lo asking him to go to the Wan Kiu boarding house to meet Ngai Hau-tung. On arrival, Ngai told him to see Lau saying, "If the purchaser Lau asks you why you have done what you did, tell him that you are in debt." When later Lau turned up at the boarding house witness introduced himself. At this interview Ngai was present.
As a result of the interview,
Mr. Lau knew that the property he was buying was from Mr. Ho Kam-tung's concubine. As far as he could judge, that was the first time Lau had been acquainted with the real position.

A letter was written by witness,
on Ngai's advice, to the purchaser Lau. Witness again accompanied his mother to Hastings office, in July, 1923, and the circumstances leading to the incident were as follows.

One evening Ngai called him over the telephone and later met him at the Lau's on boarding house in company with the second defendant, Charles Kent. They both said they wished to ask Lau for a further $10,000, which was to be deducted from the purchase money later. Lau had agreed to that, they said, and Ngai then asked witness to go home, "Tell your mother, he said, that it is proposed to raise $10,000 to pay us as remuneration for our services. He has wants to raise another $10,000 on the property. Just inform her to this effect and ask her to go down again. You will have to say just this, so that your mother will not keep this money. Tell her that Ho Sai-lok has not got ready money to pay us, and he has given us a promissory note for this amount."

To Be Hoodwinked.
Witness understood from the foregoing that his mother, although asked to sign for this amount, was not to receive the money.
He understood also that his mother was to be hoodwinked with a forged promissory note for $10,000.
This plan did not come into effect, as it turned out. Had it been otherwise, the money thus obtained was to have been divided among them, that was to say, Ngai, himself and the two defendants.

The next day witness again took his mother to Hastings' office, Lau was not there, but he saw the second defendant. They were taken to Mr. Webster's room, and he signed several documents, including an authority for the payment of the money to witness.
The nature of that authority was explained to her, and witness was told that payment could be secured in the afternoon.

Reverting to the promissory note, witness said that the same after-

FIRE AT WANCHAI.

SHED BURNT OUT.

A timber shed situated in St.
Francis Street, Wanchai and used as the office and store of the site of some building operations was the scene of an outbreak during the early hours of yesterday morning.

The call was received by the Central Fire Station shortly after midnight and appliances were immediately dispatched to assist the Wanchai detachment already on the spot.

Prompt action soon overcame the flames and at five minutes to one the "Stop" signal was sent out. The shed was severely damaged and had partly fallen through by the time the Brigade's efforts were relaxed. A large amount of scaffolding, etc., was also damaged by heat.

When he returned to the office and found Lo, whom he asked to draw up the note. Stating that he was too busy with typing, Lo told witness he could draw it up from dictation. Witness wrote down the words as dictated by Lo, who then took it and signed it with the characters "Ho Sai-lok."

Witness saw Lo doing this signature, Lo said, "Don't be so pleased. What your mother signed this morning was another deed of sale."

Witness expressed his incredulity. He had thought the document related to the $10,000 payment on account of the purchase price of the previous sale of property.

Made a Fuss.

To convince him, Lo fetched a document, and as soon as he saw the word "Assignment" across the head, he realised the truth.
He made a fuss over this, saying,
"You had better see Ngai about this, for it has nothing to do with me." Taking the document with him witness at once rushed off to find Ngai. The latter, on being approached, said it had nothing to do with him also. Witness taxed Ngai with being a fraud, and Ngai replied, "This is Kent's affair, not mine; you had better see him."

Lo then appeared, coming in in a very excited state. He asked witness to return the assignment, saying that the whole office was in a commotion, and that Mr. Davidson was angry over the taking away of the document. Mr. Lau had turned up looking for a solicitor, and witness's presence at the office was required.

On hearing this news, Ngai advised witness to say that his mother was ill, if the solicitor should ask for her; that the deeds were in Shanghai. This and other advice were given to witness to act up in the emergency.

Witness returned to Hastings's office accompanied by Lo. He saw Mr. Davidson, and at this interview the second defendant Kent acted as interpreter. At the time
Lo had the document in his hand.
Witness told Mr. Davidson he was most reluctant to go through with the agreement as he did not approve of it. The second defendant interpreted this correctly, and the reply from Mr. Davidson was that as he was a solicitor he was always ready to assist both parties.

Lau came in at this stage. Mr.
Davidson asked witness where the deeds were, and he replied they were in Shanghai. He was then asked if his mother could be brought down, and he replied that she had fallen ill. Then Lau told Mr. Davidson that the houses in question belonged to Mr. Ho Kamtung and Mr. Davidson said he could inform Mr. Ho Kam-tung of the sale.

Witness on hearing this, begged
Mr. Davidson not to, and asked Mr. Lau for time to arrange matters. Mr. Lau agreed and he left.
After further evidence, the case was adjourned.

THE CHINA WAR.

CHRISTIAN GENERAL CONTROLS PEKING.

(Our Own Correspondent).

Mukden, Oct. 23.
A communique issued on Wednesday at 5.45 p.m., states that official Chinese observers returning from the front report that Linyu, the ancient walled city of Shanhaikwan and the railway station are still in possession of the Chihli forces, whose artillery on Chuegshan hill between Linyu and Anninsai is denouncing the Fengtien lines with a deadly hail of well timed shrapnel.

A Fengtien communique to-day again claims the advances first reported ten days ago, following the apparent procedure of publicly proclaiming victories before they are actually achieved.
The latest announcement from Mukden is that the tenth division is fighting frenziedly. They have thrust into Anninsai village three miles north-west of Shanhaikwan.

Japanese Consul Denies Rumours.

I. Funatsu, the Japanese Consul General, officially denies the reported agreement with Chang Tso-lin guaranteeing to prevent the landing of Chihli troops at Nowchwang in consideration of Mukden agreeing not to mine the harbour. He also intimates that no steps will be taken to prevent fighting in the neutral railway zone established by the Boxer Treaty wherein Japan was allotted the task of maintaining the neutrality of the strip bordering the railway in the Shanhaikwan district, declaring it to be impossible without resorting to arms.

Peking Completely Isolated.

Shanghai, Oct. 23.
An American naval wireless message received from Peking this evening confirms the report that the city is completely isolated telegraphically and by railway. The cause has not been ascertained.
The message adds that the city, which is under the control of the Christian general Feng Yun-hsiang, is peaceful and that there is no cause for alarm.

It is regarded as significant that Feng Yun-hsiang should have returned to Peking from the front, as he possesses two of the best fighting divisions in China and there have been rumours of strained relations between him and Wu Pei-fu.—Reuter.

HARBOURING AND RECEIVING.

FORTUNE TELLER SENTENCED.

A Chinese fortune-teller was sent to prison for the period of six months with hard labour by Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon, when he was charged with receiving and harbouring a young Chinese girl 18 years old.

Mr. G. R. Haywood appeared for the defence.

The girl's aunt, whose evidence was not completed at the first hearing, was recalled yesterday. Examined by the Magistrate she said that the girl left the house between the hours of 7 and 8 on the night of the 1st October. She had never been married to the defendant.

Cross-examined by Mr. Haywood she said she was not satisfied with having her niece marry the defendant, as she had not investigated fully the man's character.

She had not received any money from the man.

The girl on being called said that she left her house on the 1st inst. and went to an office in the Yuen Fong Studio where she met another fortune-teller, who appears as defendant in another case. She did not return home but was taken to the Peking Hotel at Yau-mai. (Mr. Haywood: They had their honeymoon there). She went there entirely against her will. Having had some tea and a smoke she was almost unconscious. She was not married to the defendant nor did she have her aunt's permission to be there.

Willing to Stay.

Asked why she did not go home after she had recovered, she told Mr. Haywood that defendant would not let her go. She knew of the negotiations for her marriage with the defendant, but none of the money had been paid.

Mr. Haywood: After you had been there for two nights you were still willing to stay?

Witness Yes.

Mr. Haywood then said that he would like to point out that this man was perfectly willing to spend any money to go through the marriage ceremonies. If the girl went to his house willingly he was only committing a misdemeanour and a very small misdemeanour.

Defendant had paid the $400 everything would have been all right and the case would never have come to Court. Mr. Hamilton said that if he thought that there was any chance of the girl's marriage with the man doing any good, he would adjourn and let them see the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, for the girl's own sake. He would, however, register a conviction and have the case brought up again on Saturday morning.

Mr. Haywood consented, but after further discussion he suddenly interposed and said that he had not yet closed his case. "I have not opened my case yet, let alone closed it."

His Worship then told him to open his case and said that they would continue.

The defendant, in the box, said he had entered into negotiations with the girl's aunt for the girl's marriage to him. Defendant then described his meeting with the aunt and the girl. As the result of that meeting the girl went to him on the 1st inst.

A Disgraceful Affair.

Mr. Haywood addressing the Bench said that the defendant was perfectly honest and repeated that the case would not have gone to Court if the money had been paid. The marriage had been approved of and the only offence the defendant had committed was to fail to sign a cheque and a few papers. The girl had slept with the man and he (Mr. Haywood) asked for leniency in the case for the girl's sake. His client was still willing to have her as his concubine.

Mr. Hamilton said that even taken it for granted that the girl went willingly the affair was disgraceful. The man had ruined the girl for life. If he could sentence him to be whipped he would, as he certainly deserved to be, but he would go to prison for six months.

Fraudulent Conversion.

Arising out of the above case another fortune-teller was charged with having converted a pair of gold bangles to his own use.

The facts as given by Inspector Blackman were that when at the Peking Hotel on the 1st inst. the defendant took from the girl in the previous case a pair of gold bangles saying that they were of a very old pattern and that he would buy another pair. Instead of purchasing another pair as promised he had the girl's bangles melted and converted the money to his own use.

After hearing evidence the case was adjourned till Saturday morning.

ROBBERS SENTENCED.

TEN YEARS FOR TSIN WAN BANDITS.

The trial was concluded yesterday afternoon of the six robbers who carried out an armed raid on the village of Sham Tseng, in the Tsing Wan district. The first part of the trial was reported by us yesterday.

After the fifth adjournment, evidence was given by the drivers of the car, who stated that after they had stopped in the vicinity of Tsing Wan for about 40 minutes, the five men who had left the car returned hurriedly, calling for them to start up. They were on the way back to Lai-chikok when stopped by the police. The revolver handed up was not recognised nor owned by either driver.

Mr. R. Earnshaw again told the story of his seeing the two Ford cars on the road between Mr. Orme's bungalow and Sha Shum. Both cars were headed in the direction of Kowloon.

Sergeant Haulsham testified to the receipt of the message from Mr. Earnshaw and of his taking up a position on the road with a Chinese officer. He stopped the cars, lined up the passengers and searched both the cars and the suspects. He identified all the articles produced. Wong Fong Yau corroborated.

Sergeant P. Wynne who took the wounded robber to Hospital explained in evidence how various sums of money were found in his shoes and next his skin.

Inspector T. Murphy who visited the houses which had been entered by the robbers said he found the safe in Chan Ku's house marked and scoured as though an attempt had been made to force it.

The handle was wrenched off. He also gave detailed account of the identity parades held at Yau-mai Police Station.

The case for the Crown closed with the identification of statements made by the prisoners when arrested.

The Defence.

Wu Wan-tsun who claimed to be a schoolmaster denied knowledge of the affair and said that of all the property stolen none had been found on the person on himself or his fellow prisoners. Of the watch, were there not other similar watches in the world? He had nothing to do with the revolver. All his life he had been a student and would never dream of committing such a crime. His reputation was already gone, as a result of this case and if the charge was fully proved against him he would gladly suffer death by having his head chopped off. He ended a witness to testify to his good character, but this man said he had known prisoner as a schoolmaster for a good many years but had not seen him for the past three years and did not know what he had been doing during that time.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hazlerigg prisoner admitted the truth of the driver's evidence up to the point of the departure of the other prisoners from the car. He could not account for the possession of the watch by one of his friends.

Other prisoners made statements from the dock denying knowledge of the robbery and saying that they were falsely accused, having only gone out on a quiet motor ride. Ngai Chin endeavoured to establish a general alibi on the times as given by the car drivers and the reported time of the robbery. Mr. Hazlerigg did not address the jury.

Common Object Inferred.

His Lordship summing up, explained to the jury that in a case such as this, where there was concerted action, the law did not require active participation as a ground for conviction. A common object might be inferred by circumstances. There was the evidence of people in the neighbourhood by roadside at Sham Tak where a robbery took place and the number men participating agreed with the number of men who left the motor car.

As to the possession of arms for a common purpose, there again was the association of people for a common object, even though only one man had used the revolver. It was proved that the revolver in the car had been very recently used and there had been a person wounded at the robbery.

The charge of wounding with intent was against Chan Fat only and could be judged on the evidence.

Continuing his review of the evidence, His Lordship, said that most of it was in the direction of the last five prisoners although it should not be forgotten that the first offender had collected the party, and he probably thought it was better not to be seen in the village as he had at one time lived there and might be recognised.

U. S. IMMIGRATION.

Difficulties of Students.

A foreign student desiring to enter the United States solely for purposes of study has to run the gauntlet of a series of regulations apparently designed to discourage him from making the attempt. First of all he has to have a passport from his own Government and an immigration visa issued by an American Consular official. The documents with which he has to arm himself in order to obtain these are many and wonderful. He has to have a certified copy of the official family register and any other available official records; and he must have a signed photograph of himself measuring between 2½ and 3 inches square.

Then there is the certificate showing his educational qualifications, a guarantee of financial support as a student, a medical certificate, letters of recommendation, and finally any documents which may be of assistance in determining his status as a student.

Further the American authorities do not allow students full choice in the educational institution they go to.

A list of institutions approved by the Secretary of Labour—why Labour?—restricts his choice, and he has to show that the institution which he selects from among these is willing to receive him and has made arrangements for receiving him. It is to be hoped that after all this the education supplied is of the very highest grade. J.C.

It was a very serious case and depended more or less upon interference but fortunately the facts were not seriously disputed. The jury retired and returned to the Court within a few minutes having found all prisoners guilty on the first and second counts, and Chan Fat guilty on the third count.

Passing sentence His Lordship told the prisoners that he was in entire accord with the verdict. If these offences were allowed to pass without severe punishment no person would be safe. What made the case more serious was the use of a revolver by Chan Fat. He sentenced all prisoners to 10 years hard labour and in addition Chan Fat would receive 20 strokes with the cat, the difference being made in his case because he had fired the revolver and hit someone.

DO YOU FEEL PAIN AFTER EATING ?

—or do get just that dull, insistent, nauseating feeling of fullness after taking a meal? If you do suffer from these troubles, or such others as flushed face, flatulence, sickness, gastritis, etc., you should go straight to your chemist and get some Bismarck Magnesia. Take a little of the powder in a glass of water after each meal, and it will put your stomach right, by neutralising the disturbing and even dangerous acids which cause the trouble; it invariably gives instant relief from the pain, and rarely fails to restore the stomach to harmony.

By taking Bismarck Magnesia, stomach sufferers adopt a course that has the unqualified endorsement of many of our leading hospitals and medical men. And even if Bismarck Magnesia did no more than enable the sufferer to enjoy once more the good things of life—including real, hearty meals—it would easily be worth the small price which the chemist asks for it. You take no risk in buying Bismarck Magnesia, as doctors the world over prescribe and praise this remedy. Be sure you get the genuine stomach cure: See the famous "BISMARCK" oval on the package when you buy.

BELL BOTTOMS GOING?

Reform for American Sailors.

Are American sailors going to lose their trousers, this vital piece of the jacket's apparel known the world over, because of the flapping bottoms and the thirteen buttons on the blue variety? Also is the "flat-topped" hat going to pass into the discard, taking its place among the things that have been, but are no more? Those are some of the questions now declared to be ruminating about in Navy circles but to which no one thus far has answered, says the Manila Bulletin.

Recent reports, received in roundabout and devious channels from America, indicate that Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy, is going to bring about the proposed change in the enlisted man's uniform. Much has been said about the sailor-man's garb and many protests have been registered by the newer generation of sailormen, many of whom are said to be dissatisfied with the flapping trousers, wide collar and the thirteen buttons on the blue trousers.

Many officers in the service are reported to have estimated that as many as 70 per cent. of the enlisted men are working for a change in their "rigging."

One of the big objections is the flapping, bell-bottom trousers. It is averred that this style was probably all right when men were required to run up ratlines, climb masts and tread wet decks all day. But times have changed. The modern man-o-war is a floating machine shop and the percentage is small that finds use for the bell-bottom.

Another objection, and a just one, is the flat hat.

THE FLAT HAT.
 It is very mean to handle while on shore, especially if there is a wind, and many a man has suffered no little humiliation in chasing his "lid" through the streets while civilians looked on and passed funny remarks.

It has been pointed out that officers' uniforms have been changed, the dress of all branches of the service, marines and bandmen, have been made more up-to-date in fashion, and the gobs demand a like change in their clothing.

The present uniform of the sailorman of the navy is significant of many customs and deeds of heroism.

The thirteen buttons on the blue trousers are representative of the thirteen original States, and if the custom of adding a button for every State star in the flag had been kept up one would be despairingly groggy trying to lash up his carcass.

The broad collar with the three stripes, significant of the three great sea victories of Lord Nelson, was taken from the British navy uniform many years ago. The neckerchief is worn as a memorial to all sailormen who died at sea, said to have been first suggested by Lord Nelson, whose remark, "God help the poor sailors on a night like this," has never been forgotten by seagoing men.

The felt hat is said to have been made with a band so that old sailormen who had been left behind, or who had forgotten through imbibing too freely—the name of their vessel, would be returned, thereto, provided they still had their hat with the name of the ship thereon.

The question of changing the uniform has been broached many times in the past and it will be interesting to see, in the event the change is made, what the Secretary will decide upon.

HONGKONG, 24th Oct., 1924.

THE GERMAN BOGEY.

That the German bogey is not dead is shown in recent fears expressed that the Dawes plan will mean a new menace to the peace of Europe. That there might be some cause for apprehension is indicated in the news of an election which is shortly to be fought in Germany between the clear-cut issues of a monarchy versus a republic. In a speech the other day, M. Herriot voiced the ever-present fear in France that the Germans might be able to convert their ex-service associations into battalions, and their boys' brigades into an army of revenge. The story of a mysterious poison gas discovered in Prussia shows how even in Germany itself nerves are on edge, and the ranks of republicanism are ever watchful of the cult of Kaiserism. The coming German election must prove a test of the republican party's hold, and if the Nationalists should be further strengthened it will mean an increase of the fears expressed abroad that the Republic is losing its appeal to a large proportion of the people. It is a peculiar position for a country to find itself in when it has a strong party openly avowing its adherence to the principles which lay at the root of the late war, while at the same time the Government has just concluded a treaty designed to repair the damage which those ideas led to. It is unlikely that the monarchists will return to a position of absolute power, but that their presence will be felt to an embarrassing extent may be taken for granted, and the nerves of observers will continue to suffer in consequence.

Those with their fingers on the pulse of Germany will note the increased throb of patriotism, steadily growing throughout the country, until the defeat of six years ago has become blurred in the light of a greater determination to raise the fatherland to its old glories. This does not necessarily mean a return of militarism, for even in the paths of industry does glory lie for the hard-working nation, and the boast of the republican can be filled with as much ardour as the martial thoughts of the monarchist arouse. But it shows the new spirit, the new hope, and the path to the new Germany, strong, and dignified, and unashamed. Yet, who can cavil with any bit of justice at this rise above the ashes of past mistakes, to a future perhaps of world co-operation and usefulness? Can anybody condemn the whole people of a country for the misdeeds of its former ruling clique, to the extent of desiring to see it dethroned for ever afterwards? Surely common justice asks us to revise the bitterness of spirit aroused by the conflict, and in so doing but follow the precedent of history. It is inevitable that Germany must one day come into her own as an entirely independent nation—after the reparation for her past error has been made. Until then, various uncomfortable problems arise, such as that voiced by the German Chancellor a few days ago, when he pointed out that the country could not be expected to adhere to the League of Nations, and have a permanent seat on the Council, when it was a defenceless State in the midst of neighbours armed to the teeth. But that disarmament has been necessary, for the potential revenge of the old junker clique cannot be overlooked. However, it is by a growth of the republican spirit that the other nations can best lose their apprehensions. And for the fostering of this broadminded spirit, this realisation of the present and future advantages compared with the gloom of the past, it is necessary to make the German Republic worth while, to hold out to the people the prize of freedom and equality; and that can only be done by approaching German expansion in no carping spirit of criticism, but with a readiness to allow the forces of orderly progress to build up a new edifice upon the ruins of the old regime.

The Peking Coup.

With almost startling suddenness General Feng Yu-hsiang has brought off a brilliant coup d'état at Peking. When the city became unexpectedly isolated from the rest of the world, practically at a moment's notice, one could only speculate as to the cause. No-one would have thought that General Feng had revolted, and cut the communications. For a time the possibility of a big bombing raid by Fengtian aeroplanes must have held first place in the speculations. Fortunately, this anxiety has been short-lived, owing to wireless facilities, and the whole world learns to-day of the dramatic coup by the "Christian General," commander of China's Ironsides, the best-trained divisions in the country. That General Feng should be out of sympathy with Wu Pei-fu is no surprise—the Christian commander reluctantly obeyed Marshal Wu's orders to advance to the protection of the Jehol sector. That Feng should be in favour of peace is to be expected if his conversion to the teachings of Christianity has been genuine. A war of defence is one thing, a war of offence another; and a civil war in which the contest is for material spoils is the most reprehensible. Are we to trust in Feng Yu-hsiang's disinterestedness? Do we see in his coup the beginning of a new era, in which the warring factions will be brought to their senses by the intervention of one man? Or will the confusion merely become worse confounded, and General Feng find himself attacked on both sides and his great scheme turned to a sorry failure? We should know before very long; but in the meantime we trust that the Christian General is no adventurer, but a genuine patriot with his one thought for the good of his country. He could not be put to a greater test than now, and it is to be hoped that his champions—those who declared that they saw in the man sterling qualities of an honest reformer—are not about to be grievously disappointed.

Charged with maliciously cutting and wounding a Chinese, of No. 167 Temple Street, a coolie was formally remanded for one week by Mr. E. W. Hamilton, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. The complainant is still in hospital.

dangerous road obstruction, more especially at night. Banks of timber, heaps of stones, and even the boom of a crane have been left partly across the roadway with never a warning light. In spite of complaints to the proper quarter there has been little or no improvement. We welcome an opportunity to give publicity to this matter of night road obstructions, because the criminal negligence of Hongkong contractors in this matter is notorious. And sometimes the Government is at fault too. The other night a member of our staff was returning by ricksha along the Praya from meeting the Canton boat, when the ricksha ran into a whole pile of stones (unlighted) and a big heap of sand left there by the men at work on road repairing. The one half road-width which should have been left free for traffic was thereby considerably reduced and rendered extremely dangerous for all wheeled traffic. In our magisterial courts there are numerous cases heard on summonses for obstruction, but in 99 per cent. of these cases the obstruction has occurred by day and generally refers to footpaths. If our police would do a little summoning for street obstruction by night they would earn the gratitude not only of motorists but of all residents.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

RE-ARRANGEMENT OF FIXTURES.

[BY "WANDERER".]

The first division matches originally fixed for Saturday have been postponed until November 15th, the fixtures for that date having been brought forward to tomorrow. Since such arrangement was made South China "A" have cried off their game with Kowloon. The fixtures, therefore, are:—

DIV. I.

Club v R. A.—Club, 4.45.
Police v Tamar—St. Josephs, 4.45.
Surreys v China "B"—Sookun-po, 4.45.

DIV. II.

China "B" v China "A"—Chin-ose, 3.15.
St. Josephs "A" v Club—Club, 3.15.
St. Josephs "B" v Surreys—St. Josephs, 3.15.
Kowloon v University—Kowloon, 3.15.
Drums v Sacred Heart—Sookun-po, 3.15.
Club de Rec. "B" v Club de Rec. "A"—Navy "A", 3.15.

Two fresh faces will be seen in the Club eleven which is to turn out against the R.A., and the form of Hill, who comes in at left-half vice Buxton, will be watched with interest. He will be opposed to the Artillery men's best wing but will no doubt give a good account of himself. The Club should register their third success of the season.

The Surreys meet China "B" and on past form it would seem to be a question of how many the Surreys will win by rather than of who will win. The Chinese first eleven have no fixture and the "B's" may be able to draw on those players in order to strengthen their own side.

The Police play very patchy football, but should they have one of their good days they will probably defeat the "Tamar" side, which so far this season has failed to find the net. At the same time the best of the Navy men has yet to be seen; they may turn up trumps at any time.

In the Second division there are clashes between South China "A" and "B" and between Club de Recreo "A" and "B". It is only natural to assume that in each case the "A" side will win. St. Josephs "A" the Surreys II, Kowloon and the Drums should also succeed in taking full points from their respective opponents.

Sunday's match in the Portuguese Inter-Club League is between Belilios and the Boys' Own.

The following will represent the Hongkong Club Reserves in their 2nd. Division League game with St. Josephs "A" on the Club Ground at 3.15 p.m. tomorrow:—C. Stewart, R. Patterson, A. H. Oswick, E. Raiton, D. Lyon (Capt.), J. Gardner, A. Ferguson, B. Bell, T. Pilo, G. Punocheon, J. Dixon.—Reserves, J. Douglas and T. Roberts.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK.

CATCHES THREE FISH
AND TEN STROKES.

Here is a true fishing story of how a Chinese caught three fish with one pull off the Praya yesterday. The man saw a line dangling from one of the wharves and on drawing it in, discovered that a basket was at the end of the string. Opening the basket, he found three live garpious fish and forth with took possession of them.

Just at this stage however, a fishmonger appeared upon the scene, and claimed the fish as his. He had fixed up the contrivance he explained, to keep the fish alive and fresh. He valued them at $6.

At the Central Magistracy this morning, the dishonest fisherman caught ten strokes with the broom, on the order of Mr. R. E. Lindeell, Magistrate.

LOCAL CRICKET.

ROYAL ENGINEERS v.
H.M.S. TAMAR.

A friendly cricket match between the Royal Engineers and H.M.S. Tamar was played on the Royal Navy Ground at Happy Valley yesterday. The sailors batted first, Lt. Commander Hargreaves and Marine Wilkins opening the innings, the latter being caught off Jacob when the score stood at 4. Pay, Commander Osborne followed, and with Hargreaves brought the score up to 57 before they were parted. Three wickets then fell for 10, when C.P.O. Vincor followed and made a useful 45, the Tamar being all out for 126.

The R.E. opened with Capt. Chippendall and C. S. M. Smith, the latter being unfortunate to get hurt by a rising ball from Hargreaves, receiving a nasty cut over the eye which necessitated his removal to the Naval Hospital for medical attention. Q. M. S. Ramsay and Chippendall put on 50 for the next wicket, Capt. Chippendall retiring owing to a prior engagement. Cpl. Blondin, Sergt. Cockell, and Q. M. S. Faro completed the innings, bringing the total to 132 for 4.

NOISY COOLIES.

KOWLOON RESIDENT'S COMPLAINT.

Twelve ricksha coolies were summoned before Mr. E. W. Hamilton, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, for causing an obstruction in Austin Road, opposite King's Park Buildings.

Sergeant Hallam told his Worship that he was forced to take out these summonses as the C. S. P. had received complaints from a resident, Mr. J. R. Vint, to the effect that the coolies were continuously causing annoyance to residents at that spot. Mr. Vint, in his letter, had also made reference to the fact that he thought the Hongkong rickshas not so good as the Macao rickshas and had made other remarks. Sergeant Hallam went on to say that the coolies were not causing an obstruction to either traffic or pedestrians. They took their meals on the vacant piece of ground opposite the buildings, but they had to take their meals somewhere and it was not as though they were in Nathan Road. The C.S.P. was making arrangements for them.

His Worship told the coolies that they had to make less noise. He would not fine them this time, but would let them off with a caution.

TWO-MINUTE TALKS A Daily Tonic
By ROBERT POWER

EBB AND FLOW.

High tide and low tide—the eternal fluctuation of the waters. Great swelling tides which come up in angry waves; placid tides which reach high-water mark in lazy wavelets, murmuring drowsily break on the shore. Backwards and forwards swing the waters, year in and year out. Generations come and go; human affairs and vexations fill the earth with rejoicing or sadness. But come gladness or grieving the tides ebb and flow for Time does not touch them.

There is a fascination in these endless tides which I confess I cannot resist. The voice of the sea alters from tide to tide. Sometimes the billows come up with a roar, breaking in foam at the foot of the cliff. How lingeringly then the waters retire! But presently we notice that this submerged rock is now uncovered and that pier pile is showing. There can be no doubt the tide is turning at last.

Or you may see a low tide, when the sea retreats far out to the edge of the sands. How innocent and placid it seems, its voice subdued to a murmur! It is hard to believe that in a few hours the sands will be covered, the rocks hidden from view, and that fine playground for the kiddies submerged by the swirling waters. Ebb and flow, the unchanging rise and fall of the waters.

Are there not tides in our human life? Strong tides sometimes—tides of Opportunity as spoken of by Shakespeare, and which are missed by many at the flood. They will not wait, those waters of surging force. Time and tide linger for no man; and it is certain that the great Opportunity which comes occasionally in our existence is rarely repeated.

To those who are overwhelmed by difficulties so that they feel up to the neck in "the deep waters of worry," I would remind of the unfailing law of the tides. Though they rise high they will fall low. And perhaps if you examine carefully you will see that there are faint indications that things are not so bad as they were, that the pressure is abating, and the tide of adversity is on the turn. Stick it! Hope on! Continue to make a fight of it. Ebb and flow—rise and fall!

Tides are cleansing. It is said that if it were not for the surge and swell of these rising and falling waters the coast would become foul and the foreshore covered with refuse. But day by day the healing salt waters wash over the sand and the shingle, scouring and cleansing, and making everything fresh and wholesome.

Great troubles like high tides have purified many a spirit. After the stress is over, when there is time to look around again, then it is possible to realise that, were it not for the hard experience now depths of character would not have been made manifest. "Strengthened by adversity" is no figure of easy speech.

Ebb and flow! Action and reaction! The relief of pressure just when it seemed that no more could be endured.

CHINA NAVAL STATION.

THE NEW ADMIRAL.

According to the present arrangements, Vice-Admiral Sir Allan F. Everatt, K.C.M.G., K.C.V.O., the new Commander-in-Chief of the China Station, will arrive there about November 7 next and take over from Vice-Admiral Sir Arthur C. Leveson, K.C.B., whose tenure has expired, writes the naval correspondent of the China Express and Telegraph.

Sir Allan's last command afloat was that of the command of the Eighth Light Cruiser Squadron on the South America Station. Shortly after the squadron was abolished Sir Allan was appointed to the Naval Board of the Australian Government, and while holding that appointment did some very valuable work for the Commonwealth. His appointment dates from last month, but as already stated, he will not assume his duties till the first week of November. He saw much service in the Great War, both afloat and ashore, receiving the C.B. (1914), K.C.M.G. (1919), and K.C.V.O. (1920), and the war decorations for his services, and he also received the Legion of Honour, Order of the Crown of Roumania, and the Order of Saints Maurice and Lazarus.

RELIEF CREWS.

Orders have been issued for a relief crew to be prepared for the sloop Petersfield, Commander Archibald S. May, O.B.E., V.M.O., on the China Station, early in the New Year. The Petersfield has been acting for some time as tender to the flagship Hawkins, and after re-commissioning will continue to act as tender. At the same time, half crews will be despatched to Hongkong to join the river gunboats Boe (flagship of the river flotilla), Gnat, Moth, Searab, Tarantula, Robin, Woodcock, Moorchon, Toal, Mantis, Cicada, Cockchafer, Woodlark, Widgeon and Crickut. The new crew for the Petersfield and the half crews for the river gunboats will leave England by freight ship about February 15 next, for Hongkong.

APPOINTMENTS.

On re-commissioning, Commander H. Westmacott has been appointed to the light cruiser Despatch, China Station, in relief of Commander A. N. Dowding. Other appointments to ships on the same station include: Surgeon Lieutenant J. H. Laydon to Crocus; J. A. E. Tannan to Woodlark; J. F. Kirwan to Foxglove; E. V. F. Walsh to Hollyhock; J. V. Williams to Toal; T. B. Quin, to Moth; and Paymaster Commander J. M. Bell to the Mantis.

THE SUBMARINES.

Admiralty have decided that the submarines in reserve on

FALSE PRETENCE.

COMPRADORE CHEATED.

Giving a fictitious European name, a Chinese obtained a pass-book from the Shing Kee provision shop at No. 7, Nathan Road, Kowloon and obtained goods to the value of $32 in two days.

On his second appearance at the shop the proprietor insisted on accompanying him to see the new customer. They got as far as Shek Tong Tsui when the thief dropped the basket which he had crammed full of provisions and bolted.

An unexpected meeting in Jubilee Street yesterday in which he was recognised brought about the thief's arrest.

Before Mr. R. E. Lindsell today he was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour, in spite of an assurance that he would pay in any case.

GOLF ON THE ROOF.

People walking near Piccadilly-circus are sometimes started by loud roars of "Fore!" apparently from the sky. The secret is that James Brain has recently established a golf school not far from that spot, and as routes are far from reasonable in the vicinity, he teaches the game on the roof of a garage. The school is enclosed by about 14,000 feet of specially made netting; so there is little risk of losing balls in the rough of Piccadilly-circus.

The China Station are to be completed to full complement during the present financial year. Accordingly, two additional submarine crews are to be sent to Hongkong by freight steamer, leaving England as soon as possible after they become available, this month. Hitherto six of the 12 submarines on the China Station have been maintained in reserve and six in full commission.

Relief half-crews for the gunboats on the China Station are to be sent out by freight, leaving England on or after Feb. 15, 1925. The relief crew for the sloop Petersfield will also leave England at the same time.

THE DESPATCH.

The Despatch, which was joined by her present crew on June 15, 1922, when she was commissioned by Captain R. C. Hamilton for service on the China Station, has been transferred from the North Command to the Portsmouth Command for manning purposes. The new crew will be selected at Portsmouth, and will take passage to Singapore in the light cruiser Weymouth, which is on passage to England from the East Indies Station. The present crew of the Despatch will return to England in the Weymouth.

THE AMERICAN ELECTION.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S FINAL SPEECH.

Washington, Oct. 23.

With the approach of the national election on November 4, public interest is awakening and the oratorical efforts of the candidates are occupying the most prominent place in the news of the day. President Coolidge last evening delivered what is expected to be his final appeal to the American people to return him to power. His address before the Eastern Division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States was radioed almost all over the country. He contended that the present administration had brought an era of more than average prosperity, and despite "the natural supposition that every well-wisher of the country would be anxious to maintain the present established order it was now proposed that two of the most revolutionary changes be introduced, namely, Government ownership of transportation and limitation of the Supreme Court of the United States."

President Coolidge, continuing, held that the former was most perilous to the welfare of business and the independence of the people, while the latter, being wholly subversive to the American system of government, would, if adopted, prove that the people of the United States were incapable of self government.

Turning to foreign affairs, he promised co-operation with other nations in the interest of peace so long as the independence of the United States was not jeopardised. He declared for constitutional covenants, the outlawing of aggressive warfare and reaffirmed the Government's opposition to International Conferences for discussion on "purely our own domestic affairs," and also opposition to the cancellation of war debts due to the United States and the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations. — Reuter's American Service.

HOCKEY.

CLUB "B" v. THE UNIVERSITY.

At Happy Valley on Wednesday, the Club played only ten men. In the first half the Club did rather more of the pressing, but could not score. After a corner, there was a melle round the Club goal and the University scored.

In second half the Club team, slightly reorganised, scored early through Gardner. They did not, however, maintain their successful attack and the University players, lasting better and their forwards playing a good passing game, they put on three more goals.

Result: — University 4: Club "B" 1.

CANTON QUIET.

SHOPS REOPENING.

A further report from our Canton correspondent, to reach us to-day, states that there is nothing untoward to report. All is quiet and shops are gradually re-opening. Although there have been many reports regarding the possibility of further trouble, our correspondent is of opinion that there will be no further trouble for some time to come, as the Government now have the situation well in hand.

Another report to hand states that as there are still a good many shops in Canton which have not yet opened, a circular hand-bill has been distributed in the name of the Kuomintang Party advising all tradesmen to open their shops at once. In many cases this is being ignored, notices being posted outside closed doors to the effect that the shop has been plundered and that business is temporarily suspended.

News from Fatsien is to the effect that although nearly 2,000 rifles were surrendered to the Government by the Volunteer Corps there, a house to house search has been made by troops who have robbed the houses of all the valuables.

A report which, if true, will be disquieting to the Sun Yat-sen Government, comes from the North River district and states that a whole division of the Honan force, under General Fan Chung-sun, has gone over to the northern force in Hunan. This was part of Sun's Northern Expeditionary Force.

"I'm not holding. I'm breaking clean," Wills was protesting when the photographer took this picture during the Jersey City fight between Wills and Firpo.

In the second round of their fight at Jersey City, Harry Wills hit Luis Angel Firpo a hard right to the jaw and the South American took a count of two.

This shows Dr. Cobb, of the Department of Agriculture in Washington studying many specimens on a rotating table. It saves time, he says.

The Prince of Wales went to the races at Belmont Park, Long Island, and is seen here conversing with his hostess, Mrs. August Belmont.

One glance at the shattered lifeboat will give a slight idea of the terrific hurricane that struck the s.s. Arabic off the Nantucket coast recently, causing injury to scores of people and great damage to the ship.

Another royal prince is about to visit America. He is Crown Prince Olav of Norway, and will follow the Prince of Wales to the United States.

After five days in the mid-Atlantic, lacking food and water, six shipwrecked sailors, afloat on an improvised raft were rescued by the Munson liner Southern Cross.

TO CONVERT LONDON.

"Room for Revolution in Moral Life."

"There is room for a revolution in the moral life of English homes," said Gypsy Smith, the missionary, to a pressman recently.

The Methodists of London have arranged a great evangelic campaign in the Albert Hall from November 16 to 27, which will be conducted by Gypsy Smith.

"I have a message for the top dog as well as for the bottom dog," Gypsy Smith went on. "I am neither a sensationalist nor a magician, but my medicine, if taken, is guaranteed to cure the worst man and the worst woman in London. I am making an honest attempt to bring London back to God."

"We shall have a choir of 1,000 voices, and I expect big crowds. I have several new songs with catchy tunes. One of them is 'Love Won My Heart.'"

"In America within the last ten months I have spoken to a million and a half people. I know what they need and what English people need; for human nature is the same everywhere. People try to-day to satisfy themselves with a mad rush after thrills, but they will never be contented until they come back to God."

Gypsy Smith held a meeting in Letchworth a few days ago. Two old women came up to him and said: "Didn't you sell clothes to us when you were a little gypsy boy?" "I did," replied the missionary, "and they were good ones, too."

Gypsy Smith was born in a field. He began preaching directly he was "converted," and he has been preaching for 47 years.

Next February Gypsy Smith will make a big attempt to "convert" the East-end. The Assembly Hall in the Mile-end-road has been taken for this purpose from February 8 to 23.

Gypsy Smith told the pressman that when he was in America so great was the interest aroused in his missions that whole towns shut down business in order that that everybody might hear him.

"For the Blood is the Life."

Sufferers

from Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Eczema, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Boils, Furuncles and Eruptions. Gout, Rheumatism, must realize that the only sure way to complete and lasting relief is to free the blood of its poisonous waste matter, the one cause of such troubles. Clarke's Blood Mixture contains ingredients which soon over-come and expel the impurities, that's why so many lasting cures stand to its credit.
